Everyday Scenes . . .

As the high school doors opened to students for the year 1981-82 on an unusually late day in the second week of September, seniors returned for the last time to what had become the everyday scenes of New Providence High School.

Scenes Around Town

On the Scene: STUDENT LIFE

A Peaceful Study . . .

Below: Pam King researches her English term paper.

Above: Jill Troutman and Loretta Olsen view the Valentine's Day display.

Left: The large area of the library is often used by students who come in during lunch to read through their favorite magazines.

Right: Stephanie So contemplates the harmony of a new song.

Below: Rich Coskey and Rob North eyeing a frustrated computer programmer.

To Enjoy What Life Has to Offer . . .

Lisa Conroy and Steve Andersen.

Above: Peter Breining, Dave Trindell and John Sloat leave to go out to lunch.

Above and to left: Paul Berman and Lee Larson between classes.

Apart From the Scene

Whether bound together by the laughter of the moment, or isolated because of inner thoughts, NPHS students constantly set themselves apart from the scene.

Above: David Earley and Jenny Loan finally understand the full meaning of Mr. Fancera's puns.

Below: Salli Wood and Judy Judd share a private joke.

Fashions . . .

Fashions this fall surprised many: knickers and metallics became popular and the conservative, preppy look also stayed "in."

To cover the fashions, the year-book staff went to the Bloomingdales store at the Short Hills Mall. Shown here are Eileen Corbliss and Ron Hook in the clothes that they modeled. Shown here are two of the several outfits that we found for them: Above: Ron Hook and Eileen Corbliss in the model Irish pub, Eileen is wearing the newest fashion pants which taper at the ankles, and a patterned vest, low shoes. Right: Eileen and Ron in Place Elegante; Ron wears a patterned vest in the same new mossy green color as Eileen's velvet knickers. Pale stockings, a ruffy shirt and metallic accessories of gold purse, cummerbund and shoes completed Eileen's up-to-date outfit.

The Best of Times . . .

CHANGING

Many changes took place this year at the high school. Both the Choir room and Math room were enlarged to provide the students with better facilities and give them more space to work. New teachers joined the staff this year, while others switched jobs within their department. Hopefully in the years to come, many more beneficial changes will take place and be as profitable as they were this year.

SCENES

MUSIC

Choir members stretching before a rehearsal.

Each year, the choir performs a variety of songs at the two concerts in which they participate. Under the direction of Mr. F. Paul Dickey, Choir members learned how to improve their singing voices, while having a good time. This year's musical, "How to Succeed in Business . . ." brings together singers, dancers and band members to put on a show which is highly unforgettable. Students with an extra interest in singing could join voice classes or try out for the Ensembles.

Gail Watson, Marcia Allen, and Diana Conklin closely watch the director.

The choir room in the process of being renovated.

SCIENCE

Juniors work on chemistry problems together.

The Science Department offers a variety of opportunities for students every year. Most students take Biology, Chemistry, ISCS and Physics. Other courses include AP Chemistry, Human Physiology and Anatomy. Activities include a bug hunt in Biology and intricate Physics experiments.

Joe Tibone examines blood cells under a microscope.

Katie Keill studying in biology.

ENGLISH

An English class can be very profitable to a student in many ways. Aside from learning grammar, a student can read novels, write stories and poetry, and perform in front of other groups. Once a student becomes a Junior, he or she can choose the course that pertains to his or her interest. Aside from the regular courses, electives include Drama, Creative Writing, and Journalism.

Mr. Widmann discusses a novel with Linda Burke and Chris McDonald.

Chris Pribula and Bill Mitreuter look over a script in Drama.

MATH

This year, the Math Department expanded the Math Lab to provide students with more space to work, and better facilities. Many teachers continue to teach the students and help them learn new concepts while motivating them with their keen senses of humor. The basic courses taken each year are Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II and Senior Math. Computer Math I and II and Probability and Statistics, electives in the Math department, are very popular courses among students.

BUSINESS

Michelle Picone and Karen Conroy discuss an assignment.

At New Providence High School, there are a wide variety of business courses. Typing is a class which almost everyone takes in the course of their four years at the high school. Accounting and Business Law are good courses for students entering the Business field. Mr. Grosso, Mr. Henn, Mr. Coultas and Mrs. McIntyre are the business teachers.

Diana Conklin finishes up her accounting.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Social Studies has many electives to choose from. Besides learning about the history of our country, students can take courses in current affairs. Among the more popular courses are Survey I and Survey II, Ideas in America and Contemporary Issues. Mr. Longo's Survey class went to Philadelphia in the fall to see some of the historical sights. Many courthouse trips were also scheduled to give civil rights students more insight in the judicial process.

Above: Brian Connelly is sure he knows the answer.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Cindy Simmons and Mike Mazzucco discuss drafting techniques.

Industrial Arts is a field which offers many opportunities to students. Drafting and Wood classes seem to be the most popular among students. Others choose architectural courses and 3-D design. Each year, more and more students are taking Industrial Arts courses. These can be very helpful to any student, and be highly rewarding.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Above: Debbie Stedronsky and Ruth Pitcher finishing a workout in gym.

Adrienne Lyons and Chris Campana playing frisbee football in gym.

For many students, gym class is the most invigorating part of the day. This year, with the use of the newly renovated practice field, and a new piece of equipment in the back gym called "The Leaper" students can enjoy an even wider variety of activities. Soccer, ultimate frisbee, football, volleyball, and back gym were some of the more popular activities. As one student put it, "I look forward to gym to relieve tension during a rough day."

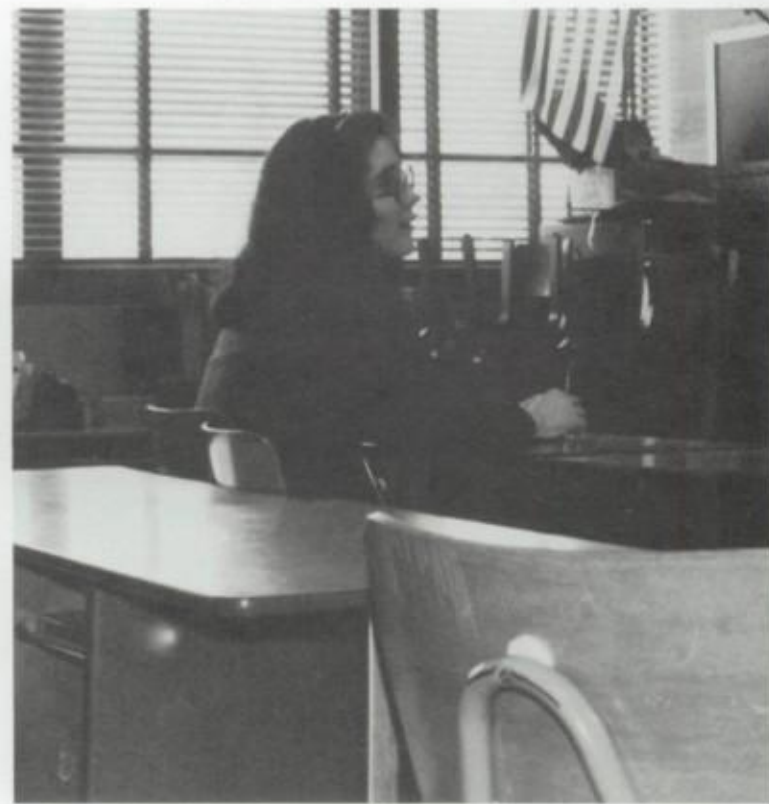

David Anderson takes a swing in ping-pong.

MRS. ELEFANTE'S CLASS

Mrs. Elefante teaches Math to the students.

Jane Pantano listens to a story.

This year the students in Mrs. Elefante's class were: Jodi Garruto, Steven Genung, Morris Lee Johnson, Rich Mury, Jane Pantano, Chrissy Parker, Linda and Laurie Santeusano, Eggie Santiago, Jill Sherrfherhorn and Chris Witzmann.

Right: Mrs. Elefante goes over math problems with Morris Lee Johnson, Jane Pantano and Linda and Laurie Santeusano.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Learning a new language can be quite an exciting experience for a student. Whether it be French, Spanish, or German, there are always many new things to learn and do. For example, Mrs. Sardella's advanced French classes had a Medieval Banquet in which the students participated. Other classes took trips to visit museums, see plays or have dinner at a French or Spanish restaurant. Many people had a learning year, but also a fun one.

Carolanne Rogers anxiously waits to leave her Spanish class.

Steve Muller studies his French in the library.

Laura Sloane sewing.

Charles Kim finishes a wood project.

Below: Mrs. Kramer's fourth period Algebra class.

ALL STATE CHOIR

This year, seven students were chosen to be members of the 1981 All State Choir. This is quite an honor since students are chosen from each school in the state. Many vocal tests are given to each person, which are quite difficult, and which usually include many memorization exercises. The highlight of the year is the four day trip to Atlantic City in November. Here, at the teachers convention, the choir does several performances, and then they have free time for themselves.

Andrea Messina and Jody McCain rehearse music before an All State concert.

PRESIDENTIAL CLASSROOM

Chris Padilla, one of the enthusiastic participants.

Paul McAneny takes a break from the busy events.

This year, five students from our school participated in Presidential Classroom, a program whereby students spend a week in Washington, D.C. and visit various governmental agencies and participate in discussions with elected and appointed public officials. The students who took part this year were: Paul McAneny, Melanie Pullen, Chris Padilla, Mariar Russomano and Steve Sola.

MODEL UNITED NATIONS

Mr. Mather, with Chris Padilla and Marc Gutscher, who both received special honors.

This year, sixteen students attended the Model United Nations Program in Hershey, PA. Marc Gutscher was selected to attend the National Affairs Conference, and Chris Padilla was elected to the Secretariat, which will run next year's program. Other students participating in the program were Joyce Kim, Ellen Lederman, Christine Lotze, Chris McDonald, Peter McLaughlin, Andrea Messina, Barbara Powers, Neil Roth, Marc Sessler, Jim Schultz, Jen Shiao, Jerry Stifleman, Wen Shiao and Katie Topper.

COLLEGE BOWL

Back Row: Dr. Thomas Fangman, Marc Gutscher, Chris Sibilia, Chris Kelaheer, Mr. Martin Miller. Front Row: Alice Palumbo, Patrick Hawley.

This year's New Providence High School Bowl Team had their best year ever. Returning from last year were Patrick Hawley and Alice Palumbo. New competitors were Marc Gutscher, Chris Sibilia and Chris Kelaheer.

A small quiz was taken by each person which stressed all-around knowledge and speed. The team has competed against Caldwell and Summit in the Challenge Bowl, and Franklin in the Rutgers Bowl. They are looking also to beat Seton Hall in their next meet.

SCIENCE

Stuck on another problem Rick Coskey tries to grin and bear it.

This year, 5 teams made up the Science League. Biology I and II, Chemistry I and II, and Physics. At each meet, a test is taken, and the student who has the highest score, wins. As one student put it, "Besides learning, we also have a lot of fun and good times." Dr. Fangman supervised the Science Leagues. Next year's team looks to be very competitive, with many returning Juniors and Sophomores.

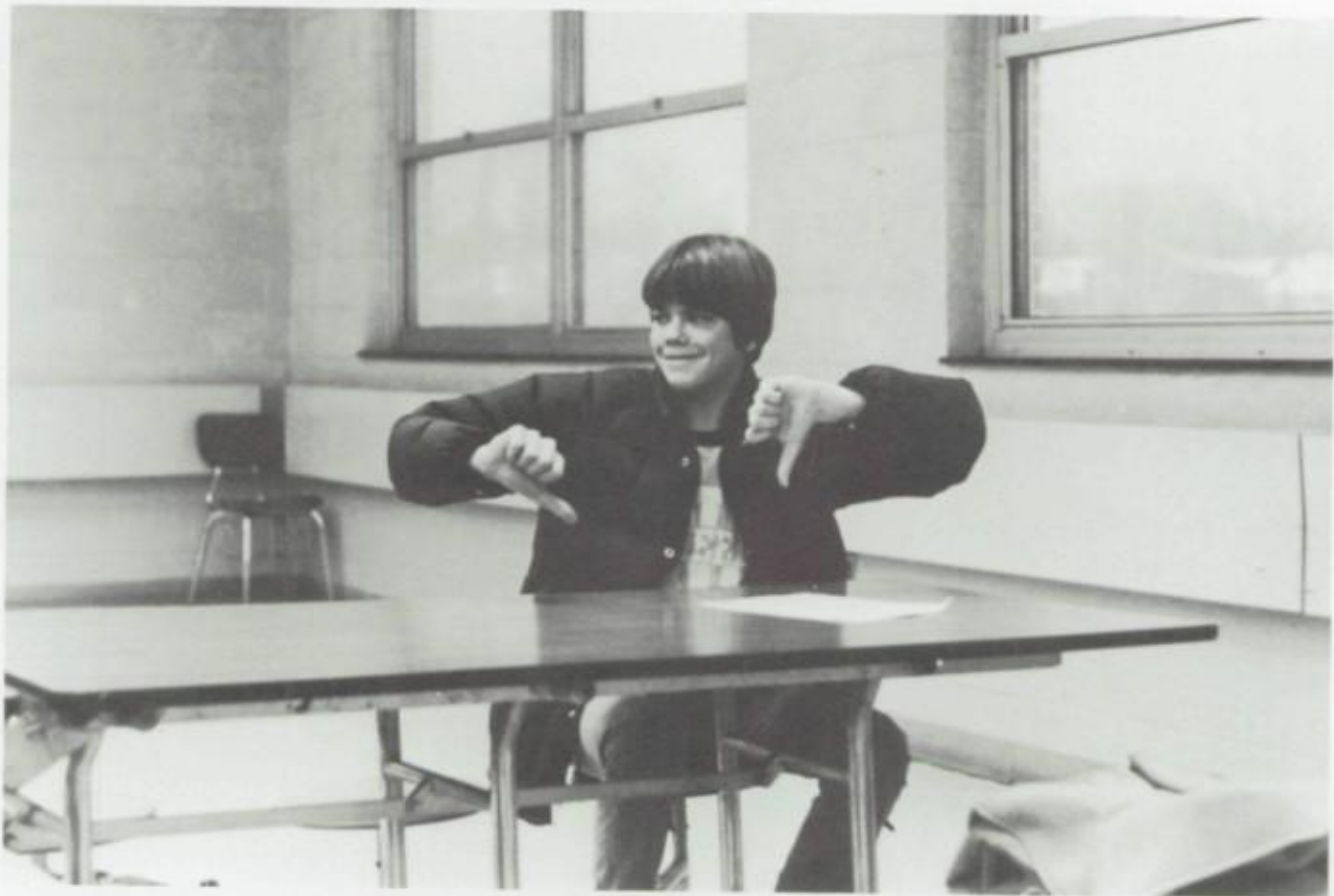

Nomi Harris concentrates on the Biology test.

Debbie Weiner uses the calculator for a harder problem.

LEAGUES

STAGED FRIGHT

This year's dramatic production was "The Diary of Anne Frank." The cast and crew devoted long hours after school, and often sacrificed Saturdays for rehearsals. Unique to the show was its opening, which incorporated a slide show and sound effects to 'set the scene.' The play ended with special lighting effects, using suggestion rather than action to enhance audience reaction. After the second performance, director Jack Gardner presented special awards to Maria Russomano, stage managers Bill Mitreuter and Chris Pribula, and master electrician Dean Venezia for their extra effort and dedication to the show.

Julie Tiernan (Rosemary) and Eric Ort (Finch) discuss Finch's new office.

The cast and crew of this year's musical, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" put an incredible amount of time and effort into making it a success. Auditions were held after Thanksgiving Recess. Senior Eric Ort was chosen for the role of the hero, J. Pierrepont "Ponty" Finch, who worked his way from a window washer to a vice-president of The World Wide Wicket Company by following the advice of a book "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Junior Julie Tiernan played the secretary who hangs onto him during his climb and eventually wins him. To get to the top he flattered the boss (Jeff Johnson) and avoided the boss' scheming nephew, played by Gregg Pavlak. Although he was fired for a disastrous idea involving the boss' mistress Hedly La Rue (Cindy Simmons) and a treasure hunt, the show ends on an upbeat note when everyone joined together in "A Great Big Brotherhood of Man." To bring the musical off required a tremendous amount of effort from the scene designers, costume designers, lighting and stage crews and from the singers and dancers themselves. The faculty advisors, Mr. DiMuccio, Mr. Siegel, Mr. Ailster, Mr. Boud and Mr. Eicher helped out from the first December production meetings to the frantic, seven hour-to-midnight, rehearsals of the final week. One interesting feature of the musical was the use of huge, projected images to provide a backdrop for the scenes. Mr. Kramer had the job of co-ordinating the singing, acting, dancing, chorus and orchestra. The musical ran for two nights with a special free performance for senior citizens. Everyone enjoyed working on the musical but agreed that they were glad that it was over.

Cindy Simmons teaches Jeff Johnson some of the finer points of acting.

In the opening song of the musical's second act, Cinderella, Darling, the secretaries coaxed Rosemary (Julie Tiernan) to give Finch another chance.

Lights . . .

Secluded in the lighting booth or walking the catwalks above the auditorium, the light crew assumes responsibility for properly lighting productions at N.P.H.S. Though their efforts are often taken for granted, their role was a critical one for many of this year's productions, including the holiday and spring concerts, the Diary of Anne Frank, How to Succeed in Business, the Gong Show and the One Acts. Senior Dean Venezia directed these efforts with advisor Mr. Ruf.

Bowling for Fun

From beginner to expert, everyone had a chance to come out victorious in this year's intramural bowling league, thanks to different skill levels and a handicap system devised by faculty advisers, Mr. Glahn and Mr. Vinci. Students were put into one of three divisions based on experience and competed with other teams in the division for a championship. Trophies were also awarded for high game, series and average. The league met at Blue Star Lanes on Thursday afternoons for ten weeks. Many of the younger bowlers indicated that they would be back again next year to try again.

The French National Honors Society was brought back under the direction of Mrs. Sardella. After a mid-December induction in which the eight senior members (Richard Coskey, Marc Gutscher, Patrick Hawley, Christine Lotze, Jenny Pierce, Maria Russomano, Stephanie So and Debbie Weiner) were joined by six newly inducted Seniors (Beth Gregowitz, Kevin Johnston, Nina Mehta, Andrea Messina, Melanie Pullen and Salli Wood) and five juniors (Jeanette McWhan, Lisa Ondrejcek, Tracy Reiher, Liz Smith and Helena Soukup). Among some of the activities planned by the French National Honors Society were a dinner at a French restaurant in Chatham, a trip to New York City to view a movie, caroling in French at the Overlook Hospital patient wards and establishing a French table in the cafeteria for monthly French meals and discussions.

Stats

Although the girls changed their names from "Mat Maids" to "Wrestling Stats," the purpose of this loosely banded group remained the same. Members recorded statistics at the wrestling matches and cheered on this year's strong wrestling team. The girls were not able to plan as many activities for the wrestlers, but they took pride in the team's excellent record and its tournament placements.

The Nike Club, a pre-professional organization guided by Mrs. MacIntyre, gave students the chance to become familiar with the office atmosphere. Through their advisor, Mrs. MacIntyre, members were introduced to representatives of business schools and learned about the further training required for a business-minded person. Furthermore, the club was also a source of information on the application of office skills.

CHESS BOARDS

This year's Chess Club was organized mainly through the efforts of Marc Gutscher. Meeting on Friday afternoons, members either played fast games to examine strategy as a whole, or concentrated on every move, taking each as a unique situation. Competition within the club determined the rank of a member, and from that ranking 'A' and 'B' teams of players were formed. Those teams competed within a regional league.

Right: Marc Gutscher contemplates his opponent's move.

AND FINGERBOARDS

The Folk Club's annual February concert featured a wide range of music and talent. The concert included both folk music and mainstream rock. The evening was highlighted by Tim Reilly's popular "revised" version of Alice's Restaurant on his guitar. Also, the punk sound of Alan Wright and TSS was heard. Mr. Longo was the club's advisor.

"R" Club

Once again, the Racquetball Club was a big success this year. Members rented the five courts at the Murray Hill Racquet Club after school for matches. Most afternoons found one or more matches in progress between club members. Sometimes advisors Mrs. Phillips and Mr. Torquati ventured onto the courts for a few spirited matches. Although the group was predominantly male and members came from all classes, the club worked well together and got both fun and exercise from their games.

Think Snow — Ski Club

With 175 students participating, the Ski Club was one of the largest activities in the high school. President Kevin Johnston and faculty advisors Mr. Bottone and Mr. Torquati gave students a chance to break their weekly routines by organizing trips to nearby Camelback, Elk Mountain and Bellayre. More expensive but well worth the money to ski buffs was the weeklong trip to Utah during February vacation. Students then had the chance to relax away from home and to enjoy some of the finest powder skiing in the world.

From opening the library at 7:45 A.M. to putting everything back after school, the club is responsible for keeping the library running. They decorate the library on holidays and help Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Huling track down overdue books. The club members enjoy their work, though, and many of them will be returning next year.

Students also aided Mrs. Allocco in providing AV materials and equipment.

Honors in Art

The first National Art Honors Society chapter at NPHS was founded last year. "Active" members attended sessions twice a month, on Monday evenings. Based on a high art scholarship average and a teacher recommendation, members were chosen to this organization. The society is currently under the supervision of Mr. Richard R. Siegel.

Front: Kyle Ledebuhr, Nanci VanSlyked, John Mahler. Second Row: Maxine Kuschel, (graduate). Back: (graduate), Stephen Muller, Joseph Cowan, George Sloane, John Krause, Mr. Siegel.

And in Studies

Under the direction of President Steve Sola, Vice-President Stacy Brunson, Treasurer Maria Russomano, Secretary Stephanie So, Corresponding Secretary Gregg Pavlak, and Chaplain Eric Ort, the National Honor Society continued in its traditional roles of tutoring fellow students and funding a scholarship for a non-member. Money was raised through candy sales and work at International Television. In another endeavor, the society created a 'college file.' It acted as an aid in college selection, providing the names and addresses of graduates who could be asked for information about the schools they were attending.

The word "Yearbook" brings to mind an end of the school book which friends are coaxed to sign. Few realize the time and effort put into its production, including enduring sleepless nights to meet a deadline, working several hours after school putting the final touches on a page, or convincing impatient students to sit still for just a minute to get their pictures taken.

To add to the confusion of the Trail's editors was a change of publishing company. Fortunately, due to workshops and learning from mistakes, the staff did manage to put Trail '82 together.

But however much an editor may gripe, and they do gripe (a lot!), and however much he or she may want to give up, seeing the books at the end of the year, and knowing that all the hard work wasn't a waste makes it seem all worthwhile.

PUBLICATIONS:

The Providential, or the Prov, as known around school was headed this year by John Mahler. Although the staff was not under the guidance of long-time advisor Mrs. Farrell, they still were able to put out the eight page issue approximately once every month.

Entertaining articles, by editor Jill Troutman, dealt with trends such as the popularity of soap operas, based on a survey given to high school English classes.

Feature Editor Melissa Schwartz, often kept the high school student body aware of useful items; Christmas gift ideas were mentioned in the November 30th issue.

A series on new faculty members and an article on Mrs. Masters' adjustment to her new role started off the Providential's new year of printing.

Although the staff prided itself on keeping the students informed on sports and academics news, the Providential also featured comments from cartoonist John Williams who also managed the editorial section of the paper. Controversial topics and opinions often reflected the views of the students and editors.

S.S.O.

The "SSO" this year was headed by co-presidents Steve Sola and Chris Padilla who directed approximately 112 members. The sophomores, juniors and seniors of this year's organization served as guides on back-to-school night and distributed the Freshman I.D. cards. Juniors helped in the seniors' events: they gave out the caps and gowns and ushered at the seniors' award night and at graduation. Finally, Steve Sola was the student representative for the second year to the committee for re-writing the Student Handbook.

The Council

Executive officers: Ellen Lederman, Vice-President; Michelle Kane, Treasurer; Nina Mehta, President; Betsy McDonough, Secretary.

The bulletin board put up by Barbara Powers outside of the cafeteria did an exceptional promotion job for the annual carnation/Valentine's Day sale.

This year, Student Council instigated many new activities in addition to continuing our traditional ones. For the first time, we had two shows: "Crystal Ship" (who did a renaissance of the "Doors") and The Gong Show. In the fall, we purchased a button machine which continued to become popular. At the same time, we instituted "special days" such as Hat Day, Punk Day, Clash Day and Role-Reversal Day which were very successful in elevating school spirit.

We were again represented on the Board of Education, on the Budget Committee, on the PTSA and on the town Vandalism Committee. We also had a student liaison on the newly-formed Video Games Committee.

We continued to supervise both the vending machines and the morning doughnut sale. Our Halloween Dance was a success, drawing more students than ever before. The candy cane and the carnation sales raised spirit and made money which we used to organize assemblies. Student Council also held spirit week before the Thanksgiving game, the shore trip and two senior scholarships.

This year was a very busy and exciting one and I would like to thank all the people who helped make it so: the executive officers, who were always willing to share the work load, the committee chairpersons who were consistently faithful to their responsibilities and all the other members of Student Council who kept the student body well-informed about all of our activities. Finally, I would like to render special thanks to Mr. Bruce Coultas, the Student Council adviser. Colt's continued support, assistance and advice kept the council running smoothly and made this year as successful as it was.

Both the holiday concert and the spring concerts were successful; the band, choir, girls' chorus, ensembles, orchestra and saxophone ensemble performed a variety of pieces. Mr. Eicher included both contemporary music and classical music by combining the theme from "Raging Bull" with the Nutcracker Suite by Tschaikowsky in the same program. The band members conducted their fund drive by selling cheeses, cold cuts and candles. The choir, under a new director, Mr. Paul Dickey, also worked on several differently styled works including: songs from Broadway's "A Chorus Line," poetry by Robert Frost set to music, a Latin mass and several selections from the Messiah. Mr. Dickey also collaborated with Mrs. Skweres, the new orchestral director to produce vocal music accompanied by the orchestra.

The 1981 Pioneer football team played strongly as a unit this year. All positions were filled with outstanding players. Senior quarterback Tom Robertson and receiver Pete Thomson (offensive M.V.P.) connected well as a major offensive threat. Senior running backs Steve Paradise and juniors John Liberato and Steve Gebert led the Pioneer running game. The team's defense, led by Bob Friedberg (defensive M.V.P.) and Steve Andersen, surprised many opposing teams by their toughness. Seniors Sean Murphy, Steve Paradise and junior Dave Polisenio were top on the hit list, each having more than fifty hits for the season.

This year the veteran football team succeeded in completing Head Coach Frank Bottone's 100th win. The victory came in the 9-7 defeat of Clark, the first win of the season.

The team fought its way to a 4-5 season in a conference with the majority of schools considerably larger than New Providence. In spite of this, the Pioneers lost by no more than one touchdown and extra point to two Group IV schools, Middletown North and Seton Hall, both ranked in the top ten. To add to the difficulties, the renovation of Lieder Field forced the Pioneers to play all home games in either Summit or Berkeley Heights. The team looks forward to playing next year in the smaller Mountain Valley conference and on a home field.

TWIRLING

The twirlers are a group of talented girls with a lot of charisma. Their captain for the past two years, Michele Gallitelli, created and perfected all the routines. In addition to their performances throughout the football season, they also participated in pep rallies, parades, and competitions. This past year, the competition squad walked away with a total of eleven trophies and various medals. At the previous Thanksgiving Day game, the seniors twirled fire batons.

Twirling requires much dedication; and their captain, co-captain (Joyce Kim), and the twirling squad itself have much to be proud of. Also, special thanks to Cindy Sawicki and Laura Seitz for their help with the equipment.

SOCCER

Co-captain Rob Lachenauer looks for the long ball.

Although hopes were high, the boys soccer team suffered another disappointing season this year with a record of 2-10-2. The individual talent and enthusiasm were there, but the team just couldn't seem to get it together on the field. They lost to arch rivals Governor Livingston (ranked first in the county) and Summit, by one goal each. They played Summit twice and both games went into overtime, despite a 1-0 Pioneer lead after the first half of the second game.

The scoring was distributed among senior linemen Jim Lemons, Paul Maurer and Dave Hwang, and juniors Jimmy Dean and Rob Dumas. Leading scorer Jim Lemons had a season total of 11 goals. Senior halfbacks John McCarthy, Paul McAneny, junior Fred Gaghan and freshman Rick Duttenhofer controlled midfield. The all senior fullbacks Rob Lachenauer, Rob North, Allen Wright, Mike Brenn, and Glenn Craig played crash and burn defense, while Stew MacLehose and junior Thorsten Heise covered the goal.

A big chunk of the team will be graduating this year; however, next year's team has nowhere to go but up. Good luck to next year's boys in their new conference.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Coach C. J. Lallis had some team members with previous varsity experience to work with this year. The scoring foursome of Burke, Lachenauer, Thomson, and Nelson replaced last year's big scorers. All four had broken 100 points by mid season. Junior, Bob Burke, led the pack at the half-way mark with 122 points. Seniors Rob Lachenauer and Pete Thomson (team captain) and Junior Dave Nelson rotated in regularly as forwards. Junior Kevin Murphy played an outstanding year as center. He was well known on defense for swatting opposing shots into the stands. Senior Dave Trindell and Juniors Bob Burke and Barry Blackwell were the regular guards this year. Bobby's fantastic ball handling abilities were a big asset to the team this year and will be greatly appreciated next year. Although their slightly disappointing season record doesn't over-rate the team, they did play quite well. Despite being one of the smallest schools in the conference, most of the games they lost were by fewer than three baskets. Next year the team looks forward to a new conference and many superb returning varsity players and up-coming J.V. players. Good Luck!

The girls followed up last year's season with another fantastic record of 14-3-1. Their team skills and group effort made them seem undefeatable. They beat Milburn 5-1 for the Conference Championship and went on to tie Westfield 1-1 to become Co-County champs. Juniors Lori Snyder and Kelly Conrad led the offense, assisted by seniors Ellen Lederman, Mariah Vignali, René Conroy and junior Kim Rogers. Lori Snyder pounded home most of their goals with a season total of 35. Seniors Salli Wood and Kim Cross and juniors Barbara Powers and Cathy Wood held down midfield. Senior fullbacks Holly Sewell, Mary McLaughlin, Liz Landsittel and junior Janice Higgins backed up by senior goalie Stacey Brunson and junior Andrea Moletteri, snuffed the opposing offense. Due to graduation, many players will be missed next season, but there are many returning varsity players and upcoming J.V. players to preserve the winning tradition. Keep it up!

This year's varsity cheerleading squad consisted of twelve girls. The captains were Aimee Wilson and Sue Ward. The cheerleaders provided spirit throughout the year, cheering for football, boys' and girls' soccer, and boys' and girls' basketball.

The squad helped to show their dedication by selling ice cream and having many bake sales. They used the profits to buy paper, paint and streamers, which spread their spirit throughout the school. During the fall sports season, the cheerleaders held two pep rallies, decorated the halls on Thursdays, spent each Friday night decorating the team room and delivered small gifts to the football players at their homes.

Support from Coach Jarvis and Coach Dubels was greatly appreciated as they helped increase the cheerleaders' spirit and make the year a fun and successful one.

SOFT

Although the 1982 Pioneer Softball team was relatively young, it was an experienced one. Just about the entire infield was returning from a previous year on the varsity squad. Returning to first base was senior Janine Seippel, a strong verbal as well as physical supporter to the team. Following in her own footsteps, senior Holly Sewell played another outstanding year at second base. Sophomore Lisa Hallock at shortstop is the only newcomer to the infield. She played on the J.V. squad last year. Returning varsity third baseman, junior Joanne Madonna, looked to prove herself this year. Junior Janice Higgins, replacing Sheryl Wood at catcher, looked very promising in pre-season practices and had an outstanding year. Returning varsity outfielders, junior Kim Rogers and senior Salli Wood, led the otherwise new outfield team members to achieving their season goals. These fielders backed two very good pitchers whose performance determined the success of the team. Juniors Paula Gallo and Julie Bollman were each very good pitchers to rely on. Before the season started, Coach C. J. Lallis noted that slowness was a problem. Concerning the team's chances, he said, "The batting is good and the fielding looks good, but the success of the team really depends on the pitchers. The team will be good, but if they're great, it's because of the pitchers."

Aimee Wilson, a big point scorer for the Pioneers, practices her long jump.

Head Coach Elrod Peterson looked to the States this year, starting out the season with what he called "excellent potential in both the boys' and girls' squads." The girls' team looked especially strong this year. Last year's young team offered much returning varsity experience this year. They lost only one meet last year and looked forward to an undefeated championship team this season. Top returners for the girls' weight team were Junior Linda Burke in shot put and discus, Seniors Debbie Weiner in javelin and Chris Lotze in all three events. Senior sprinter Aimee Wilson was a big point scorer. Sophomore Caitlin Hadtke and Junior Barbara Powers took care of the hurdles for the girls. Sophomore Carolyn Heglund and Junior Jeanette McWhan performed as distance runners and Senior Liz Landsittel was the star high jumper. In addition to the returners, the coaches looked to a lot of new talent for that extra support.

Coach Peterson looked to better last year's boys' record of 5-4 with a relatively young team. Losing some key players to graduation left a few holes to fill, especially in the weights area. The only returning letterman in the weights was Rob North in javelin. Key returning runners were Seniors Steve Sola and sprinter Steve Andersen and Junior hurdler Brian Connelly. The strong cross country runners, Sal D'Avella, Rich Gallagher and Skip Simpson, performed as the distance team. Senior pole-vaulter Jim Lemons and long-jumper Wen Shiau returned for their last seasons. Coach Peterson looked to Sophomore Shayn March and Juniors Kevin Murphy and Dave Poliseno as part of the new talent for the boys. Competing with Group 1 schools this season also helped the team's success.

Chris Lotze, the top weight person for the girls, displays her shot-put style.

Liz Landsittel practices her high-jump skills, trying for her best and final year.

Junior John Liberato prepares for the pitch.

Senior shortstop Dave Roche was a power hitter and a good fielder for the Pioneers.

BASE

Recovering from last year's graduation was not an easy task for the Pioneer baseball team this year. Star pitcher Steve Gelmine was probably the biggest loss. Coaches Paul Miller and Skip Lynne had their work cut out for them in trying to match last year's Union County Tournament team. Dave Roche, Tom Robertson, Dave Trindell and Mike Wehrle being the only returning varsity players, the team was relatively new. Veteran shortstop Dave Roche looked to guide his newer infield members through a tough season with some success. Infielders, Sophomore Barry Blackwell (catcher), Senior Ron Hooke (first base), and Juniors Tom Cronin (second base), Jeff Tabor (third base), and Jimmy Dean (shortstop) worked hard to refine their skills in early pre-season practices. Senior pitcher Tom Robertson, trying to fill Steve Gelmine's shoes, looked for stardom in making this his biggest and best year. Seniors Peter Breining and John Sloat competed with him for position throughout the year, pitching very well in pre-season warm-ups. Junior Jerry Conroy was also on the pitching roster this year doing most of his work for the J.V. Senior outfielders Dave Trindell and Mike Wehrle followed up last year's season with another great one and played heavy hitters for the Pioneers. When asked early on in the season how the team would do this year, Senior Ron Hooke replied, "We're going to have to work hard. It'll be a struggle. But we've got some good talent and with a little dedication we should do pretty well."

BOWLING

The bowling team this year improved very much from last year. The surprising thing about this was that the team was rather young. The Varsity team was made up of Captain Ron Hook, Steve Higgins, Dean Venezea, Joe Fosko, and Jim Schultz. Mike Wood bowled as a back-up for Dean Venezea. Ron, Steve, and Dean were seniors and had been on the bowling team for several years. The other boys were sophomores, so in the years to come they should be even better. Besides talent, the members of the team got along well and there was a lot of encouragement and spirit.

BASKETBALL

Linda Burke fakes out her opponent.

The Pioneer girls' basketball team came back with yet another remarkable season. Returning seniors this year were Diane Vander Wal, Janine Seippel, Rene Conroy and Stacey Brunson. All four girls were veterans of the varsity team. This year Diane Vander Wal was voted captain by her teammates: Janice Higgins, Nancy Liss, Sue Chauncey, Kim Rogers, Linda Burke, Tena Dowd, Caitlin Hadtke and Marybeth Campana. The starting lineup for the season primarily consisted of Janine Seippel at guard, Caitlin Hadtke as center and Diane Vander Wal, Nancy Liss and Janice Higgins as the forwards. Coach Kahn used the other players often; they were the backbone of the team. The team was very close this season which contributed to their great success. The future is very optimistic because of the eight returning players and the experience of Coach Kahn.

TENNIS

The boys tennis team with new coach John Kufel had an optimistic season. Emphasis was put on the individual aspect of tennis. Coach Kufel was looking for hard work, improvement, and good attitude. The fundamentals were stressed during practice through various drills.

The returning players were Marc Gutscher, the only senior on the team, Bob Burke, Tom McCarthy, Kurt Werder, and Scott Vetri. Along with these experienced players fifteen other boys tried out for the team.

There was a lot of enthusiasm among the players. With the loss of only one player this year the team looks forward to a good season next year.

The golf team began their season with experienced players. Because they were a rather young team last year they gained a lot of experience which helped them this year.

The returning players were the whole team except Rick Duttenhofer, a freshman who was a big asset to the team. Mike Moreland, Bob Friedberg, and Gordon Connelly held the first spots. Coach Coultas felt that he had more talent and potential this year than he had in many years.

CROSS COUNTRY

The boys' cross country team this year grew in numbers. Several returning seniors, Gregg Nicollian, Sal D'Avella, and Skip Simpson, performed well for the Pioneers. The team finished fourth in the State Sectionals. The Pioneers are losing several lettermen but they have a strong group of boys to fill the spots.

Although the girls didn't have a team the entire year because of injuries, they finished third in the State Sectionals. In the Union County Tournament Jeanette McWhan placed sixth. Jeanette and Carolyn Hoglund made the All Area Cross-Country Team. Everybody except Christine Lotze will be returning for the girls.

VOLLEYBALL

This year's Volleyball team looked for support from its returning senior starters; Diane Vander Wal, Ann Schroeder, and Rene Conroy. The other Varsity positions were looked to be filled by Juniors Jane Gregory and Doreen Blazier in addition to seniors Karen Leffler and Marcia Allen. Coaches Don Carpenter and Art Cattano put a great emphasis on physical conditioning. A special jumping program was designed to strengthen and improve their volleyball skills. The coaches hoped to equal if not exceed the success of the past seasons. The highlight of last season was placing third in the Elizabeth Invitational Tournament. This was a significant accomplishment which they had hoped to surpass this season.

SWIMMING

Ann Blancke shows her strength swimming butterfly.

This year's swim team fielded many experienced, talented, and hard working girls. They improved greatly from last year. There were only two seniors on the team, Captain Ann Blancke and Ellen Lederman. Ann swam freestyle and Ellen swam breast stroke. The rest of the team was made up of girls from the three other grades.

The thing that hurt the team the most this year was illness, especially at the beginning of the season. Not having enough people in the lanes swimming for the Pioneers prevented them from winning many close meets.

Outstanding swimmers for the year were Co-Captain Jenny Loan who swam everything well and Gwen Horan who took many first places in breast stroke for the team.

The future looks good for the team because they have a lot of depth and good swimmers to do the job. Upcoming freshmen are Kelly Whitney, Chris Fosko, and Christie McKee. These girls and many others will be the key to success in the years to come.

GYMNASTICS

Members of the team spend time practicing on the balance beam.

Helena Soukup perfects her walkover during practice.

INDIVIDUALITY IS THE KEY

The team lost one member due to graduation from last year but she was replaced by an incoming freshman named Jennifer Arnold. Jennifer had a good year. She placed first in floor exercise and vaulting, second in uneven bars, and third in the balance beam in the Suburban Conference Gymnastics Meet. She ended up second all around.

Returning players from last year were Gina Grinnell and Kelley Cody, co-captains; Jeanne Polloni, and Doris Ammenworth.

There was not a lack of ability in this year's team. The girls all performed well. As senior Jeanne Polloni commented, "By the end of the season everyone was doing especially well individually."

The whole team will be returning next year except Gina Grinnell and Jeanne Polloni.

TENNIS

Kelly Scott gets down to hit her powerful topspin forehand.

Senior Jenny Pierce follows through her backhand.

Melanie Pullen is in deep concentration about the next point.

THE WINNING CAME

The Girls Tennis Team fielded eighteen girls this year. The team started practicing a week before school began so they would be ready for their first match. They were ready! They played Verona and won 3-2. The team finished with an 11-6 record, the first winning season in the history of Girls Tennis. The team set many other records. They shut out three teams; two non-conference and one conference. They qualified for the state tournament by having a 500 record halfway through the season. The team was ranked fourth in the conference and eighth in the county. They finished sixth in the Union County Tournament.

Members of the varsity were Peggy Keane, Linda Burke, Donna Goepfert, Kelly Scott, Adrienne Lyons, Tracey Pivik, and Dena Borch. Peggy Keane, first singles, Linda Burke, second singles, and Tracey Pivik and Dena Borch, second doubles were picked for third team all conference — another first for the team.

The team worked very hard this year which was evident by their record and all the honors they received. This was Coach Esposito's fourth year. Every year he would tell the team, "The winning will come." He sure was right.

Right: Linda Burke goes after the ball to get maximum power.

WRESTLING

John Liberato stretches in preparation for a match.

TAKE DOWN

This year's wrestling team was one of the best the Pioneers have ever had. The team was very experienced, but young at the same time. The varsity was made up of six seniors and eight juniors which was the first time the team consisted of only seniors and juniors.

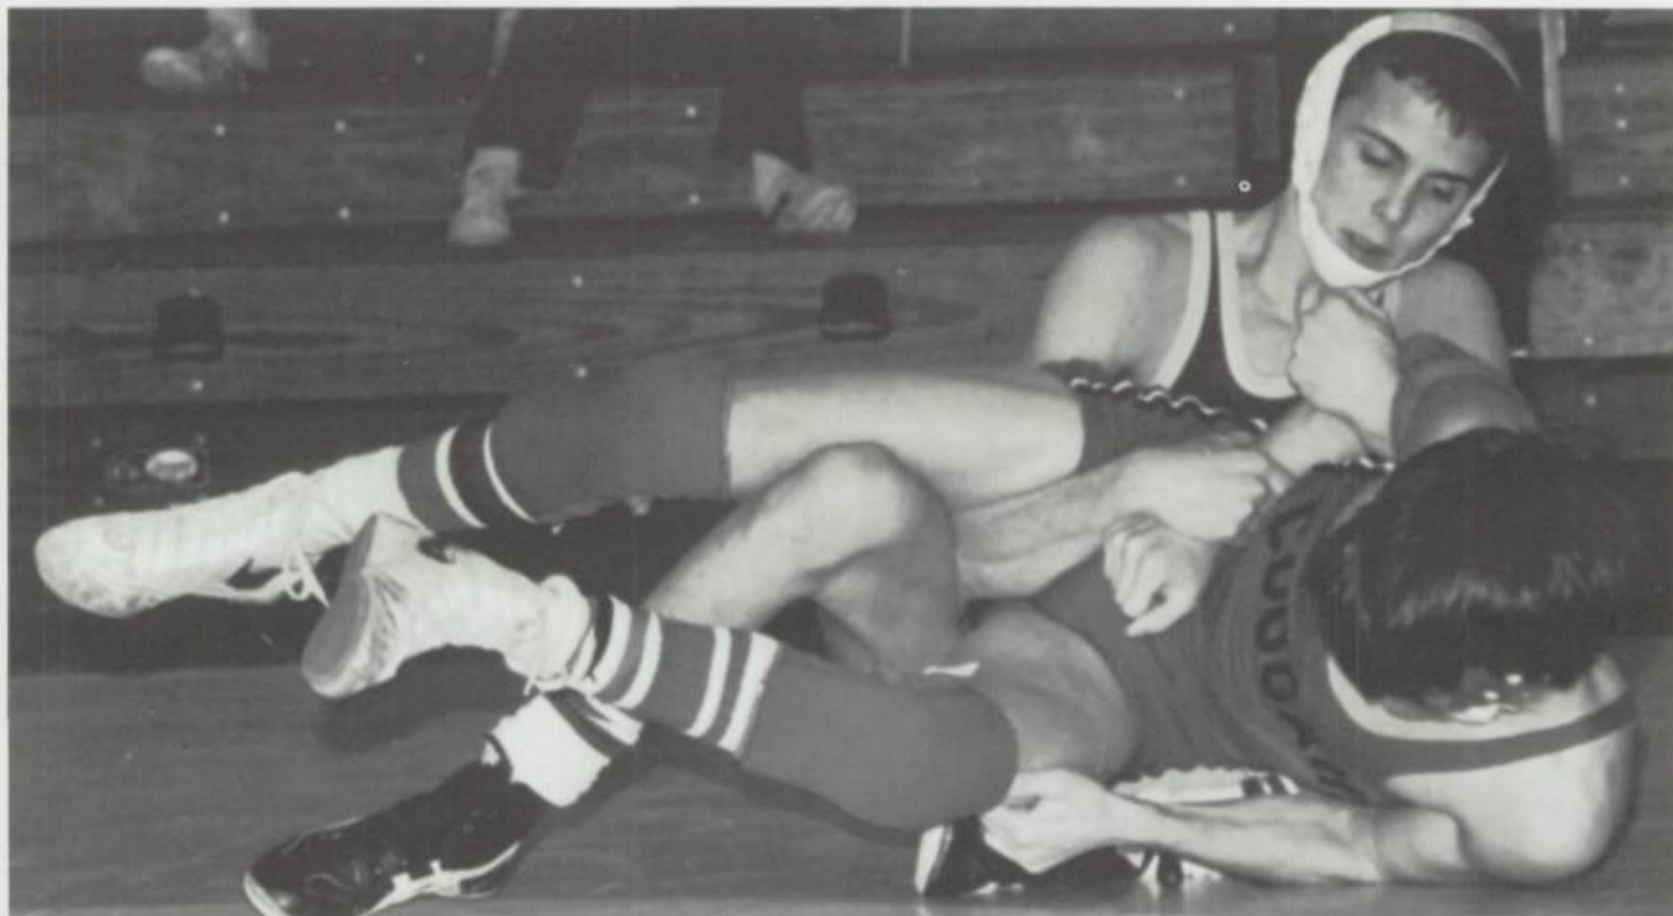

Several wrestlers did well in the Parsippany Tournament which took place over Christmas vacation. Steve Nobbs and Dave Monize placed first. Bob Dumas and Ithan Zimmer placed second.

The wrestling team had a lot of talent this year. The team looks to the future optimistically with eight returning lettermen.

Dave Monize is in control.

Even amongst the conformity of the high school there is one student who, through his artistic talent, establishes himself as a nonconformist. This student is, of course, Dave Earley. Dave has been painting jackets and shirts for three years. His primary source of painting influence has been album covers. Dave's favorite group to paint is the "Greatful Dead." As the artist says, "they have intense designs." He also painted album covers from Blue Oyster Cult, Bob Dylan and the D.K.'s. Dave has never taken an art course because he says "I can only paint when I'm in the mood. I can't paint in a class . . . for a grade."

Wisdom builds the house, good judgement makes it secure, knowledge furnishes the rooms with all the precious and pleasant things that wealth can buy.

The class of '82 is proud to have as their officers: Janine Seippel — President; Marybeth Watkins — Vice-President; Eileen Brett — Treasurer; Sharon Yeramian — Secretary. As graduation approached the senior class became more united. Their school spirit and enthusiasm were made visible in the float junior year, in the senior hall, and in their powder puff games throughout their four years. They have had several successful fund raisers such as holiday back sales, jewelry sales, and sweatshirt sales. They worked to match these profits with the sale of student made planters and baseball shirts. The profits were used for the senior prom and other senior activities. The senior class leaves behind outstanding records in all areas of high school life. They will now begin their next stage of life, with memories of the excellence they left behind.

Spending six weeks in Israel certainly was a different experience. The entire government revolves around its security because Israel is such a small country surrounded by hostile nations. Graduating this year is one senior who showed high involvement and achievement in an extraordinary organization. The senior is Mariah Vignali and the organization is the Morris County Militia Fife and Drum Corps. Mariah joined the Militia when she was in seventh grade and continued her participation throughout high school. She started out as a fife player. After the first year she joined the color guard and later became captain. Besides practicing Wednesday and Friday nights during the winter, Mariah also practiced every night during her summers. As a member of the Morris County Militia, Mariah travelled to Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York, Delaware, Virginia, Florida, Michigan and Canada where she participated in many exhibitions and parades with other corps throughout the country.

Juniors Prepare for the Final Scene

The Junior class has once again had a very successful year. By selling Nestle Crunch Bars and chocolate bunnies at Easter time, the class raised $1800. The class showed its spirit when it won the hall contest for the second consecutive year. This year's elected officers were President Kim Rogers, Vice-President John Liberato, Secretary Katie Topper and Treasurer Barbara Powers.

Roth Survey Gains U.N. Recognition

Neil Roth, a junior at N.P.H.S., was appointed to the United Nations Headquarters Youth Caucus and to the International Youth Year Committee by the World Jewish Congress.

These nominations to world organizations were given in recognition of a survey developed by Neil. Administered to N.P.H.S. students, his opinion survey determined the political tendencies of individuals.

The survey results were forwarded to renowned politicians, economists, and journalists. Among those who replied were Walter Mondale, economist Milton Friedman, columnist William F. Buckley, and New Jersey Senator Bill Bradley.

Neil is the youngest person to be chosen to these committees.

Mr. Mather congratulates Neil Roth on his achievement.

Sophomores Move Up in the Scene

Through the efforts of President Peter Monize, Vice-President Jim Schultz, Treasurer Tom McCarthy and Secretary Caitlin Hadtke, the sophomore class raised a total of $325 with their first fundraiser of the year. The class sold N.P. Pioneer painter hats in school and at several football games. The class showed their enthusiasm by their participation in the decorations of the halls and the annual powder Puff football game.

Sophomore Dances Her Way to Joffrey

Sophomore Susan Fisher was one of three girls selected to take classes at the Joffrey Ballet School in New York City. After dancing for five years, the last two at The Judith Anthony School of Classical Ballet, Susan auditioned at The Joffrey School and placed in the intermediate level. The eight week session, which ran last summer through July and August, gave Susan a glimpse of what professional ballet is like.

Freshmen Get Into the Scene

The freshman class, led by Doug Frain, president; Linda Flood, vice-president; Jennifer Arnold, secretary; and Suzannah McDonald, treasurer, had one of the most successful magazine drives in N.P.H.S. history. The class raised $4,418.19 by selling 375 subscriptions which far exceeds their goal of $3,000. The three top sellers were Katie Cullen, Colleen Murray, and Jeff Buntin who raised almost one quarter of the entire sum.

Class officers: Doug Frain, Jennifer Arnold, Suzannah McDonald and Linda Flood.

THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF PHYSICS

Most students experience Physics with Mr. Carroll. Because of his reputation, students approach him with fear and trepidation. Mr. Carroll is notorious for his difficult tests, quizzes, labs, and study guides. Students often hide in their seats as Mr. Carroll calls them from behind his "Physics" lectern. However, Mr. Carroll isn't always merciless. After students get acquainted with his teaching techniques, they enjoy being force fields and electrical currents in the hope of becoming an "angel" in the second semester.

THE VERSATILE MR. LONGO

Mr. Longo's interests extend from photography to playing guitar in the group "Gold." Besides playing in his own band, Mr. Longo sparks student interest in music through the Folk Club. He is also an accomplished writer; Mr. Longo's text book, Ideas in America, and his editorials in local publications are widely acclaimed.

Our Food and the Lunchroom Staff

Mrs. Lane, our dietician, has done a remarkable job of improving the lunchroom scene. In the past two years, Mrs. Lane has brought in a salad bar, an outdoor barbecue, special holiday meals, and breakfasts. From her meetings with the Student Commons Committee, she has formulated her ideas like a Junior-Senior section.

ADMINISTRATION AND BOARD OF EDUCATION

Jean Masters
Principal

NEW PRINCIPAL TO HEAD THE SCENE

Mrs. Jean Masters took over the office of Principal this year when Dr. Carey acquired a Superintendent's position. Although quite a change from the Guidance Department, our new Principal is making her mark by enforcing the new attendance policies. Mrs. Masters is trying to solve the increasing problem of student tardiness by enforcing attendance rules that will make it hard for students to slide through the year by being late for classes.

All in all, the transaction has been smooth.
